

Safe and Secure TV Channel Welcomes Strategic Partnerships

We have created a unique and powerful sponsor participation package that will be customized for each of our strategic sponsor partnerships. Through their sponsorship, companies in the security industry will not only be able to sell and market their products and services, but will also demonstrate goodwill by sharing important security information with viewers.

Distribution

All program content will be placed on the following media platforms:

- Interactive Satellite
This distribution platform allows viewers to navigate to informational and e-commerce environments on the Web, thereby increasing sales and/or awareness for a sponsor's products, services, or information.
- Local and National Major Cable Distribution Promotional Support
In order to ensure an optimum viewing audience for our programming, we will engage in a very aggressive cross-channel promotional campaign that will encourage viewers to tune in to our programming.
- Transactional High-Tech Internet Website
This platform will enable Safe and Secure TV Channel's website to stream sponsors' segments or even archive entire shows. A strategic mass Internet video banner program will ensure the necessary hits on our website to help us realize substantial viewership.
- Sponsor Safety Tip Vignettes
Sponsors who produce educational information that can benefit viewers at home or elsewhere will have an opportunity to create user-friendly safety tip vignettes that can be downloaded and played on demand via the millions of iPods that consumers have learned to rely on.
- National Print Magazine and Internet Support
Major publications within the security industry will engage with Safe and Secure TV Channel to promote the channel's programming on its different media platforms by utilizing full page advertisements as well as strategic banner placements on each print publication's website.

• Major Trade Shows

Safe and Secure TV Channel will be sharing and exhibiting its programming with participants at several major trade shows each year. Through Safe and Secure TV Channel's elaborate multimedia platform distribution, these participating sponsors will set themselves apart from their fellow competitors and will create significant goodwill among the millions of viewers who will consistently engage in Safe and Secure TV Channel's line-up of programming.

• Trade Associations

We will launch a major campaign tailored to safety and security trade associations that will give us access to hundreds of thousands of association members. Program series content will be offered to these associations for use in their ongoing seminars and meetings.
