

Safe and Secure TV Channel Magazine Premiering in Late 2008!

Our new monthly Safe and Secure TV Channel Magazine, slated to premier in late 2008, will report on all the major happenings within the safety and security industry.

Features

- Company profiles relating to new products, services, research, and public relations
- Corporate profiles relating to the pioneers of the security industry as well as top executives and their ongoing leadership roles within the industry
- Informative and educational stories pertaining to the interactivity of all of the major trade associations that support the many security industry companies and their members

- Timely and important information for the general public, domestic and international in scope
- Major feature articles about ongoing events throughout the industry
- Editorial columns supplied by some of the most prominent leaders within the security and safety industry

Distribution Channels

(in both hard copy and electronic formats)

- Circulation throughout the many trade associations to their thousands of members
- Circulation via major domestic and international airports
- Circulation in major retail chains reaching millions each month
- Circulation via major bookstores and newsstands
- Circulation to major companies who wish to share among their employees vital and important information relating to home and work safety
- Circulation through all major transportation outlets including airplane and train seat pockets, as well as all major rental car locations